

ABSTRACT

A method and system for providing free subscriptions to magazines, based on a questionnaire applicable to a number of magazines. Questions of the questionnaire are presented to consumers, and, based on the consumer response to these questions, a supplier order for a free subscription to a magazine is generated and sent to a supplier of the magazine.